

In celebration of the class of 2017, we present the development of skills and career competencies among our graduates

Development of skills among graduates

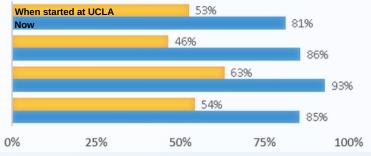

% of seniors rating themselves as "good," "very good," or "excellent"

Leadership skills

Ability to understand international perspectives

Analytical and Critical Thinking Skills

Oral Communication Skills

Source: UCUES 2016 (N=2967)

How much did UCLA contribute to the skills of graduates?

% reporting that their experience at UCLA contributed "quite a bit" or "very much" to their...

84%

Confidence in approaching new areas of learning

83%

Desire for lifelong learning

81%

Ability to uphold high ethical standards

75%

Leadership skills

77%

Ability to work effectively in a group

85%

Ability to make informed decisions that require analyzing information from many perspectives

79%

Ability to communicate effectively verbally

79%

Self-management

Source: UCLA Senior Survey 2016 (N=6032)

Career competencies of UCLA graduates

% of seniors rating themselves as "good," "very good," or "excellent"

92%

Identifying and responding to the needs of colleagues

83%

Identifying actions to take to achieve career goals

91%

Understanding the impact of nonverbal communication

71%

Engaging in job/grad school searches

79%

Time management

72%

Writing resumes or CVs

89%

Learning from mistakes

91%

Selecting and using appropriate technology

Source: UCUES 2016 (N=2967)